Announces Residential Programme on

INTERPERSONAL GROWTH AND TEAM BUILDING
February 6-10, 2017 at Port Blair

INTRODUCTION

Organizations are essentially groups of individuals constructed to strive for specific goals. The success and growth of organizations depend significantly on the individual's ability to work well at interpersonal level as well as in and with groups. At the organizational level, team building is a philosophy of job design in which employees are viewed as members of interdependent teams instead of as individual workers.

This programme has been designed to help the employees to engage in activities in which teams can engage to change its context, composition or team competencies to improve performance. Team building can help benefit teams experiencing issues with negative effect, such as lack of cohesion or trust. It could also improve teams suffering from process issues, such as lack of clarification in roles.
